

My Magical Arctic Adventure!

Happily, I jumped right onto the sled and WHIZZ! We were off. It was amazing! Painfully, the breeze swiped across my face. I was shivering but that didn't stop me from having a good time. Refreshingly, I could feel soft snow on my eyelashes. It was freezing so badly.

In front of me, the huskies were howling so beautifully I wanted to join in with them but I was too cold. I could hear a crash at my feet and it sounded like I landed in a ditch. I tried to open my eyes but I could not because I was too cold to do it.

While I was on the sled, I looked up at the sky and saw the magnificent Northern Lights dancing like ballerinas. It was so satisfying. The Northern Lights faded and a glowing sunset came which made the snow turn a rosy pink! I had never seen pink snow before. The pink snow made me think of lollipops.

The evergreen pine trees smelt like berry perfume. It was amazing! When I took a deep breath in through my nose, it smelt like I had eaten candy floss that was full of strawberry. I took another breath, it was the same! It was so satisfying.

I felt as if my feet got dumped into cold ice - it was FREEZING! When I landed, it made a loud CRASH! It felt like I had broken my knees. Have you ever seen the Northern Lights and blushing pink snow?
